

CASPIAN JEWELRY

Discover nature's shimmering color palette.

Diamonds are the artwork of nature. Find her finest masterpieces at Caspian Jewelry.

Over the past three decades, Caspian Jewelry has emerged as the preeminent supplier of rare diamonds and fine jewelry to the industry's most distinguished wholesalers and retailers. Caspian's collection includes extraordinary diamonds in a spectrum of natural colors – among them, some of the rarest gems known to man – and stunning jewelry pieces to frame and accentuate their beauty.

Whether you are in the market for single diamonds or handmade diamond jewelry, you will be captivated by Caspian's dazzling colors, superior workmanship, and remarkable attention to detail. Caspian's GIA Diamond Graduates travel the world to find the diamonds that are most remarkable in size, color, and clarity. Inspired by the unique characteristics of each diamond, Caspian applies a keen eye for design to ensure that the precious stones are cut, polished, and set in a manner that fully amplifies their brilliance.

This passion comes naturally for a family whose heritage includes three generations in the fine jewelry business. Owned and operated by the Faramarzi family since 1979, Caspian Jewelry blends contemporary American ideas with an old-world approach to outstanding quality and customer care. This is evident in the many long-term relationships built with customers through honesty, dependability, and unbeatable prices.
